AQUILA Resources said the WA government approved the development of green field port facilities at Anketell Point on the West Pilbara coast.

The announcement came after the WA government announced it would contribute $3.5 million to the construction of a new port at Anketell Point, south west of Port Hedland.

The port development is being driven by Fortescue, Aquila Resources and Metallurgical Corporation of China.

Fortescue wants to use the new port to export iron ore from its planned Solomon mine, 180km south of Ankatell Point, when it runs out of capacity at its existing facilities at Port Hedland.
